Kōrero reo

For the month of August every Wednesday 3:30-4pm, meet at CSSC. Nau mai, haere mai

Many of us are on the journey to speak te reo and it is super fun and easier to do it with people! So it would be great to get together each week and kōrero. This is very casual and open to anyone. There is no structure - it is up to whoever comes - it could be going for a walk, learning new words, playing games, drinking tea etc.

What is distance learning?

- Studying by distance and online learning means you don't attend classes. Instead you have the flexibility to decide where and when you'll study, and can plan your studies around the rest of your life. You will need a computer and internet access

Where can I study from?

- From home
- From CSSC, there are multiple ways you can study from CSSC: wifi (internet access), available computers, or the caravan can be hired for a private study space.

I want to know more - Anna at CSSC is really happy to help and answer any questions, or help to find other courses that may interest you. There are so many! Pop in on a Tuesday or Wednesday. Or contact cdw1@colville.org.nz / 07 866 6920.

Bird Count at flocking site Colville
Foreshore 4th May 2018

BIRD COUNTS CONFIRM COLVILLE'S UNIQUE BIRD LIFE.

In May, we did 5-minute bird counts around Colville Bay. Rare and threatened birds are living here! A bittern (less than 1000 in NZ) and two fern birds were heard. A census at the flocking site in the middle of the foreshore reserve (see graph) revealed 54 NZ dotterel's feeding on the mudflats. With the population at only 2075 (2011) that is pretty special. Bird counts will be done twice a year to help us understand the impact of our pest control around the bay.

MYRTLE RUST FOUND IN COLVILLE. In June, Myrtle Rust was detected on mature pōhutukawa trees on Wharf Rd. Myrtle rust is a serious fungal disease that affects plants in the myrtle family. Plants in this family include the iconic pōhutukawa, mānuka and rātā as well as some common garden plants such as ramarama and feijoa.

Symptoms to look out for are:

- bright yellow powdery eruptions on the underside of leaves (young infection)
- bright yellow powdery eruptions on both sides of the leaf (mature infection)
- brown/grey rust pustules (older spores) on older lesions (scars/wounds)
- grey, 'fuzzy' spore growth on undersides of leaves

Some leaves may become buckled or twisted and die off.

What can you do?

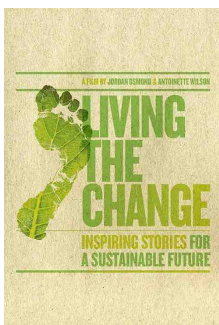

- If you think you've seen myrtle rust, don't touch it, take a photo, and call 0800 80 99 66.
- Collect local seed, grow seedlings and plant them. The more trees there are the more likely there will be some that are resistant to myrtle rust.

Staff changes at CSSC

In 2015, we were very fortunate to be able to employ Anna van Dort and Roy Fraser as Community Development Workers. This was through a Community Development Scheme grant received from the Department of Internal Affairs. The scheme funding was for three years to support community groups to work together. On 31 August 2018 this funding finishes, and we will sadly say goodbye to Anna and Roy in these roles.

COLVILLE and BEYOND

Colville And Beyond believe we have so many wonderful experiences in the northern Coromandel. The 2019 advertising update is about making it easy for locals and visitors to access the variety of great things local in our northern communities.

2019 ADVERTISING - Updates are currently underway:

- Local Directory – promoting the range of goods, services, and skilled people we have in the northern Coromandel Peninsula communities.
- DLE cards – advertising places to stay and things to do for visitors.
- Website – showcasing a wide range of local artists, businesses, accommodation and places that make Colville And Beyond unique.

Want to advertise? – please get in touch ASAP and we will do our best to get you listed in the 2019 advertising. The final editing will take place mid-August 2018.

Contact: colvilleandbeyond@gmail.com,

Greetings to all

Hoping this finds everyone fit and well and dry!

Recent visitors to the clinic who have told us their cell phone number will have received a 'text to remind' them of their appointment the next day. This is generated automatically and helps us to make sure people remember the date and time of their next visit. We have also had a few sent in error to people who have requested something at the clinic, but who aren't visiting us. Sorry about that, and please 'bear with' as we get the new system sorted.

In August we are hosting a group of 20 health students from Auckland University for a half day in Colville as part of their 'rural weekend'. The plan is for them to meet rural health professionals and have some useful hands on experience. We will be working with local first responders, the St John team and the clinic staff. We believe investing time in this could benefit communities like ours who have difficulty attracting rural health practitioners.. We sincerely hope that from the group there may be one or two who really get 'hooked' on working in a place like Colville.

We have been having a bit of a blitz on not enrolling people from out of our area. A wee reminder that our area is north of and includes Tuataewa to Papa Aroha. We are not enrolling people who reside outside of this, and yes this applies even if you have a batch and can provide a local address. So sorry, but we are making a stand on this currently.

In August we have two students with us, a fourth year called Jelle and a trainee intern 6th year called Astha. These are our second to last students for the year, which reminds us of how the year is flying by.

Till next time,

The team at Colville Community Health Centre.

COLVILLE
COMMUNITY HEALTH TRUST

Good news here at the Health Trust - we have a new Financial Administrator! We are very pleased to welcome Rosemary Garland from Waitete Bay onto our team. She is looking forward to getting to know the community a bit better, and would like to introduce herself here.

Hello everyone,

I moved to Coromandel 34 years ago with my husband and baby. Two more children followed, who now have babies themselves! I am a medical laboratory scientist and in 2007 I re-entered this career at Pathlab in Hamilton for several years. Nearly 5 years ago we moved north to the Colville area and simply love this stunning place.

I'm a volunteer at the Coromandel Elim Church, and for the last couple of years I have been the treasurer/secretary for the Elizabeth Park Body Corporate in Coromandel. My interest in this led me to take an online course in accounts, administration and payroll, and now to the Colville Community Health Trust where I am delighted to be part of this lively team! Rosemary

In other news, we would like to announce that

The Colville Community Health Trust Annual General Meeting will be held on 12 Sept at 1pm at the Fire Station.

All are welcome.

I hope the weather is kinder to us all in August. Keep warm and dry, and be careful on those roads.

Steph has been involved with choral and acapella singing for many years and is looking to get a regular group happening at Karuna and Colville.

August - December. Need basses, tenors, altos and sopranos!

Operation Nest Egg

Our involvement with Operation Nest Egg (ONE) is winding down, with this year's breeding season coming to an end. There have been a total of 29 eggs (including 3 chicks) lifted from our area and transported to Rainbow Springs Rotorua for hatching. Of these eggs, 23 have been viable and all but 2 chicks have been released on predator free Motutapu Island.

They have become part of the founding population of Coromandel Brown kiwi on the Island. The purpose of this program is firstly to ensure there is a secure population of Coromandel Brown kiwi should there be a catastrophic event on the mainland. Secondly, to provide a breeding population that will see the return of many, many birds to the wider Coromandel Peninsula in the next 5 to 7 years.

What might be a catastrophic event? Disease, predation by dog or ferret...

At the time of writing we've become aware of a large number of adult kiwi deaths at Port Charles. Some of which have been verified as dog kills. Whilst not yet confirmed it is probable the other deaths, of which there are many, are predation by dog also.

Netflix and Tapu, the two chicks returned and released in the Port Charles Rat Attack this season, are the shining light for a new generation that will, in time, return to the wider Coromandel. We must ensure we all work together to make it safe for them. MEG will continue to work with landowners and groups to undertake and encourage landscape scale stoat trapping, but to stop dog predation we need the whole community to step up.

Winter Lecture Series

The next MEG Winter Lecture, 'Catching fish using wood, bone, stone and shell' with Dr Chris Paulin, will be held at the Pepper Tree Restaurant on Sunday 5th August from 7pm. Chris's experience with natural history and ethnological museum collections includes 37 years as a marine biology curator at the National Museum of New Zealand. Chris is the author of the book, 'Te matau a Maui: Fishhooks, Fishing and Fisheries in New Zealand

PROMOTING HOLISTIC CONSERVATION

KAITIAKITANGA WAY

Kia ora, I am wondering why 89 kiwi got killed over a 5 year period at Tongariro, (cause of death is unknown as they were not tested for any poisons). I had heard that ferrets breed up in areas that have been 1080d. If any of this is true we should be told so we are more aware. We need to work together and not be kept in the dark as self indulging groups and departments promote only one side so the general public has no idea or balance of what's really going on. Usually all for money or funding as it is now called (strange that no kiwi were tested for poisoning).

Another example of Govt efficiency would be MPI including pest plants in its Billions Tree list. This agency is promoting pest weed species including one that is illegal to sell or grow and others that ratepayers are spending up large trying to eradicate, eg Japanese Spindle Tree is banned by MPI itself and illegal to plant, yet here they are promoting it. These trees are a threat to our bio security, someone needs to get their act sorted.

Cheers Kelvin
